H2 - Why You May Need Your Gutters Replaced

A simple visual inspection will show any major faults in your gutter system. Other signs are not so easy to spot with the naked eye. Below are 5 ways to determine if it's time to replace your gutters.

H3 – Cracks

Gutters with large cracks will let water through, but they are not alone. Smaller cracks are often harder to spot. Check your gutters when it's raining to see if there are any "invisible" cracks letting water through.

H3 – Stressed Seams

Do your gutters have seams where two horizontal sections meet? These seams are a common area for leaking or separation. You may want to consider seamless gutters to eliminate this problem in the future.

H3- Rotting Wood Trim

If the wooded trim in your home's exterior is rotting, it may be a sign your gutters are failing. The water from faulty gutters exposes the wood to excess moisture and causes you headaches.

H3- Mildew

Are you noticing mildew in areas in areas below ground where it didn't exist before? Failing gutters may be exposing your foundation to excess moisture and allowing mildew to build up.

H2 – How New Gutters Benefit You and Your Home

A new gutter system protects your house by preventing water damage. Damaged or failing gutters allow water to flow onto your property, cause flooding, and hurt your home's curb appeal. Here are just a few benefits of a new gutter system:

- Accident Prevention – Excess water improperly directed by worn gutters may pool in yards or driveways, creating slipping hazards.

- Decreased Maintenance – New gutters fitted with gutter guards require less maintenance from you, saving you valuable time.

- Increased Protection – A proper gutter system helps protect your foundation, basement, exterior paint, and exterior patios.
